It Took An Auto Crash To Lead Nick Guastella Back To His Sculpting

BY BOB KALLER

Of the hundreds of people on the Monterey Peninsula who work as artists either on a full-time or part-time basis, one of the leaders as a practicing sculptor is an unusual man named Nick Guastella.

Destined and trained to be an artist, Guastella almost strayed from the path—and it took the “moving finger of fate” to get him back again. A native of Palermo, Italy, Nick spent a happy boyhood there with a father who was a veterinary doctor, and an uncle who was a painter, as active abettors of an early interest in art.

The standing of the artist has always been high in Italy and the young lad found no opposition from his family to his early inclinations. Later schooling, capped by university study at the Institution Belle Arte, transformed this early tendency into a firm way of life.

Then came World War I and Nick left the quiet countryside of Palermo to become an officer in the Italian Army with the famed Arditi troops, fighting against the Austrians. He was not demobilized until 1920 and by 1921 the country's political handwriting was on the wall. It was fairly obvious to any acute observer that Mussolini and his Blackshirts were on the road to power. Guastella, a confirmed anti-fascist, decided to leave for the United States.

In New York, where he arrived in 1921 and stayed till 1938, Nick worked with Valente, a well-known sculptor of the day and exhibited at the Hifton Galleries on 14th Street. Life for a sculptor, then as now, was hard.

With the arrival of his wife to join him, and the need to support two young daughters, Guastella found that he was gradually drifting into doing antique repairwork, cabinet and desk construction, general woodwork—all natural offshoots of his work as a sculptor.

Finally, he became a general contractor—and while he continued to keep his hand in as a sculptor, doing occasional contract

City Clerk Rose Certifies R To W Initiative Petition

This morning City Clerk Larry Rose certified the right to work initiative petition which will be presented to the city council at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

After a trip to Salinas to check the register of voters, Mr. Rose announced that 386 signatures are valid, 101 more than necessary to qualify.

A total of 552 signatures were submitted, but Mr. Rose disallowed 136 because of “technical errors, such as ditto marks, wrong addresses, etc.”

The petition asks the council to place a city right to work ordinance.

Planning Commission Forms Sign Policy In Study Session

Signs in the business district should be integrated with the appearance of the building they identify, and of secondary importance to appearance of the building, was the basic policy suggested by Carmel planning commissioners yesterday afternoon in study session. They meet again next Wednesday afternoon to further develop a policy for control of business area signs, then prepare recommendations to the city council for a new sign ordinance.

Ups And Downs Of The School Board

The Carmel School Board faced up to the normal agenda of good and bad news Tuesday night.

High School students Douglas McAulay and Daniel Richardson had qualified in the National Merit Program. The swimming pool is cracked and it will probably cost several thousand dollars to patch it up.

All the Carmel Valley juniors enrolled in Monterey High School, 14, want to continue there next fall. Sixteen sophomores and freshmen want to continue, too, but could give no good reason. Warren Edwards, high school principal reported. Board's decision will await tuition negotiations with Monterey.

Average yearly increase in enrollment at Carmel High for the past five years is 13 percent. If the rates on at the same rate, with the Valley added, enrollment in 1962 will be 1011, according to

X-Rays Of Old Break Indicate Flotsam Body Is Thornton's

Saturday, Mrs. Avis Dukes found a body on the beach near the pier at Stillwater Cove. It had obviously been immersed for some time in the ocean. At first Coroner Christopher Hill, Jr., thought it might be the Monterey High School teacher, Richard Cunningham, who on December 14, left his car at the foot of Ocean Avenue and disappeared. But finger prints didn't tally. Now he thinks it might be Lawrence Thornton of Big Sur who went fishing January 2, and disappeared.

Today, x-rays showed an old break in the right arm. Lawrence Thornton was known to have received such an injury while serving in the Navy. Coroner Hill has asked Oak Knoll Hospital in San Francisco to send the x-rays made at the time of the injury, for comparison.

John Chitwood Will Run Again, Patnude Says No

Mayor John Chitwood announced yesterday afternoon that he would be a candidate for re-election to the city council in the April 8 municipal election. At the same time, Councilman Carl Patnude said he would not stand for election to a second term.

Paul Hazdovac, an employee of Leonard J. Coskey, plumbing contractor, announced his candidacy this week. No others have declared candidacy to date. Filing closes February 13.

There are two vacancies to be filled. Holdover councilmen are James Buffington, Jr., Everett May, and Allen Knight.

Councilman Patnude said he regrets he hasn't the time to give to the council, if he were re-elected; he has enjoyed his term on the council, especially with the present five. “I've been happier with them than any time I've been on the council, but I must have more time for my family and my business.”

Mayor John Chitwood came to the Peninsula first as an officer on the USS Mississippi in 1926 when the ship was sent to Monterey for the Fourth of July celebrations that year. He met his wife Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Taylor of Carmel, at a party for the ship's officers given by the mayor of Pacific Grove. They were married on April 5, 1928, and Mayor Chitwood visited Carmel frequently until 1946 when he retired from the Navy with the rank of commander and came to live in Carmel. In 1950 he was first elected to the city council and then re-elected for a second term. He served as commissioner of health and safety and commissioner of police before becoming Mayor when former Mayor Horace Lyon resigned.

Establishment of a retirement system for city employees during his second term in office he believes is the most important accomplishment during his eight years on the council.

Organized fighting to preserve their zoning restrictions, paid off for the Carmel Highlands Property Owners' Association Tuesday in Salinas. The county planners said no to Ralph T. Stevens who wanted his residential property, next to the Tickle Pink Inn, rezoned for multiple dwelling use. The planners had said yes at their last meeting. Highlanders appealed, packing the supervisors' chambers. The supervisors recommended that the planners reconsider, and they did.

It is encouraging to see what determined citizens, working together, can accomplish in the cause of restraining commercial development from encroaching where it does not belong.

Now a group, calling themselves Gamboa Associates, have asked for commercial zoning down the coast for a trailer park and motel near Gamboa Point, 21 miles south of Salinas, about a mile from Lucia. The County Planning Commission will look at the site before their next meeting. Their technical advisors

Here's The Run Down On The Bond Committee

Tuesday night the Carmel School Board completed its seven-member bond committee by adding the names of Enos Fouratt and Mrs. Adrian Bennett to those announced in last week's Pine Cone: Peter Ferrante, Eugene Harrah, J. O. Handley, George Herbert and Mrs. H. W. Ayres.

Mrs. Ayres has lived in the Tulareitos school district in Carmel Valley for 12 years and has children in the fourth and sixth grades. She was a member of the Tulareitos school board for six years and has served on citizens' committees studying a Peninsula wide junior college district in 1951, a county wide junior college district, and one recommending the override tax in Monterey school district to finance present construction at Monterey High School. Mrs. Ayres was also a director of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association and on the League of Women Voters junior college study committee.

Enos Fouratt, a realtor, has his home in the Rio Vista Tract at the mouth of the Valley and came to live in Carmel 17 years ago. He is president of the Carmel Taxpayers

James Womble Buys Castagna Pharmacy

Castagna's Prescription Pharmacy, on the corner of Ocean and San Carlos, will change hands on February 10. It will also change its name to Womble Pharmacy.

James Womble of Pebble Beach has bought the business from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Castagna, who have been operating the store since they purchased it from Don, “Doc” Staniford on November 1, 1953.

Mr. Womble, who came to the Peninsula six years ago after he sold his two drugstores in Sacramento, has been a pharmacist

LOBOS PLAY AT CARMEL HIGH GYM FRIDAY NIGHT

A crucial Coast Conference junior college basketball game is on tap at the Carmel High gym tomorrow night when Pete Peletta brings his MPC Lobos to the Carmel pavilion for a league game with the high-flying San Jose Falcons. This will be the first time the Lobos have ever played in the local basketball emporium and Coach Peletta is bringing a classy unit to show off before the Carmel fans. Currently resting in second place in the JC Conference, MPC will be taking on the team which is in first place when it squares off against the Falcons. Under Coach Peletta, former mentor at Rio Del Norte School, the Lobos have done a real about-face in basketball and have zoomed from the league doormat to a solid contender for the junior college crown.

CARMEL CAGERS PLAY AT GILROY FRIDAY NIGHT; HOST PACIFIC GROVE SATURDAY

A busy weekend of basketball is in store for Carmel High's hoop squads with league action on both Friday and Saturday nights. The Red and Gray squads travel to Gilroy for lightweight and varsity games Friday night and return to action at the Carmel gym Saturday night, hosting Pacific Grove in a triple-header. At Gilroy the lightweight fracas gets underway at 7:00 o'clock with the varsity tilt slated for 8:15. Saturday night, the Pacific Grove and Carmel jayvee squads square off at 5:00 o'clock, the lightweights hit the boards at 7:00, and the varsities take over at 8:15.

Friday night's excursion to Gilroy could be a rough one for the Padres as the Mustangs are leading the league in the varsity division and are in second place in the lightweight race. Coach Bob Hagen's varsity squad has lost only one league game this season, bowing to the strong Hollister quintet by a narrow margin.

Saturday night's clash with arch-rival Pacific Grove should be close in both divisions as the PG varsity has hit the skids in the last three games, bowing to Hollister, Gilroy and San Lorenzo. The Breaker lightweight squad has had a rough season to this point, winning only one game in league competition. However, comparative scores and past performances mean little or nothing when Pacific Grove and Carmel are competing since the intense rivalry makes the form sheet useless.

PADRES LOSE TWO AT HOLLISTER

Hollister's classy varsity basketball team put on a phenomenal shooting exhibition last Friday night at the Haybaler pavilion and dealt the Carmel Padre quintet an 80-46 shellacking before a packed house which gaped in amazement at the never-miss Haybaler 'arms'. Operating from a shot-and-run offense, Hollister broke in front, 24 to 6, early in the second period and it was all over for the Padres. A 28-point scoring effort by Hollister's Dave Gow was tops for the game with Dale Dawson's 20 points copping the runner-up honors. The Carmel lads played well enough to win an ordinary game but the uncanny shooting of the Red and White squad turned this one into a rout. With the win over Carmel, Hollister moved into a tie for first place with the Gilroy Mustangs and must be considered as the team to beat for the B-league championship.

Carmel's lightweight squad dropped a 32-29 decision to the Hayseeds but were in contention all the way and dropped the decision via the free-throw route. Both teams had 11 field goals but the hosts were more accurate from the free-throw line. Top scorer in the lightweight fracas was Marv Grimsley, brother of Hollister's varsity star, Roger Grimsley, who had a big hand in scuttling the Big Padres. Marv hit for 10 points to lead the Hayseeds to their fourth victory of the season. Besides doing a good job of scoring, Marv also controlled both backboards and anchored a solid zone defense. Dave Farr with 7 and Pete Willcox with 6 were Carmel's high scorers and both played a fine floor game.

Carmel's junior-varsity found the Hollister jayvees more in their class and romped to a 44-28 win glory from the long trip. The strong rebounding of the Wilkin brothers and Hal Gregerson tipped the tide in favor of the Padre reserve squad as the rangy front line trio cleared both boards to pick up the easy crisp shots.

The losses to Hollister moved the Carmel hoopers down a notch in the league standings with the varsity slipping to seventh place a notch ahead of King City and the lightweights dropping in to a tie for the fourth spot.

CARMEL'S LITTLE LEAGUE SET TO ROLL WITH SIX TEAMS

President Bill Woolsey and his Little League board of directors have been busy in the off-season planning and organizing for a bigger and better Little League program during the 1958 season. The league has been expanded to six teams and the farm teams will also go with a six-team circuit. Play will start the same time as last season but will continue longer into the summer. With six-team league, the popular circuit will have games scheduled Monday through Friday during the entire season. The farm teams will play their games on Saturday with triple-headers on the slate every week.

The six teams entered in the 1958 Little League are the original four of Pilot Market, San Carlos Agency (1957 Champions), Sports Shop, and Boys Town plus Carmel Glass and Wilder & Jones. Managers are set for all but one of the teams but the league needs lots of help in the form of coaches, umpires, scorers, and all-around enthusiastic supporters. Anyone desiring to help in Little League action can be steered through the proper channels by calling Bill Woolsey at MAYfair 4-6655 or Jack Miller at MAYfair 4-1085. The minor league clubs which play their games on Saturdays are especially in need of men with baseball experience to coach the sprouts in the fundamentals of the game and to umpire the Saturday contests.

Something new to Carmel baseball and a follow-up on the Little League will be a Babe Ruth League.

the Monterey Babe Ruth League. This team is for players in the 13-15 age bracket and will absorb many of the Little League graduates. The Babe Ruth League team consists of 15 players and it will be managed by Jack Miller, popular mentor of the championship San Carlos Agency squad. Carmel will hold a Babe Ruth team tryout of its own and the players will also participate in the Monterey tryouts. Babe Ruth League games are played on a regular size diamond and a number of the Carmel nine's games will be played at the Carmel High Diamond. Generous help on the part of the following people has made the Babe Ruth League team possible: Pilot Market, J. O. Handley, Village Laundromat, Carmel Insurance Agency, San Carlos Agency, Sport Shop, Nielsen Bros., Village Shoe Tree, Shreve Archer, Hudelson & Myers, Spencer's, Bank of Carmel, Comstock, Konrad's, and Kip's. These individuals and firms are sponsoring the Carmel entry into Babe Ruth League play and helping our youngsters participate in the great national pastime.

Car Smashup Led Nick Guastella Back To Sculpting

pieces for such famous houses as Tiffany's, his prime mission in life as a sculptor gradually began to play a subordinate part.

During the depression years of the early thirties Guastella worked for the Ford Motor Company in New Jersey and tried to scrounge pieces of wood in which to work during off-hours. This was the low point in his life, when it appeared that Nick had been born with great gifts, only to be frustrated in their use.

In 1938 Mrs. Guastella was troubled by asthma, and Nick and his wife came out to the Pacific Coast looking for a better climate in which to live. The Monterey Peninsula had the same climate and beauty as his native Palermo, Guastella claims, and here the couple decided to stay. The years seemed to fall away, and once again he began to work at his sculpting.

But habit is a hard thing to break, and the need to make a living everpresent. What with one thing and another, the time continued to go—until suddenly in 1950 Guastella, in an auto smash-up, found himself in a cast for three months—half-paralyzed, with plenty of time to think, and strict instructions from his doctor to use his hands, both to pass the time away and to develop his muscles.

There could have been no clearer warning from destiny, says Nick, and from that time to this he has been a sculptor pure, simple and ever-improving.

From that period also dates his love of tough materials to work with. A wood artist, Guastella works primarily with roots, which he says is harder than working with stone or marble. He likes both the physical challenge of the hard material, and the limitations presented by the already present work of nature, to which the artist must mold himself.

All wood fascinates Nick, however and he has worked with teak, mahogany, ebony and rosewood. The results have been exceptional. He has taken two first prizes at the Monterey County Fair; he has taken first prize in the Hollywood Modern Wood Art exhibit against hundreds of competitors. He has exhibited in the Madonna Festival in Southern California from 1955 through 1957, and the California State Fair in both 1956 and 1957.

President Eisenhower, when visiting the Peninsula in 1956, was given one of Guastella's creations, and it now rests in the White House. Another piece of sculpture is in the Museum of the University of North Carolina.

Guastella says that artists are the only people who know how to work. He has a number of theories about his work and says they are applicable to all sculptors who work in wood. First of all, he says one must know how to handle the material, which has a special quality of its own. Secondly he thinks it is important to use lime to dry wood out thoroughly, and thirdly he recommends using it from the sea wherever possible, since it will not crack.

Guastella points out that a good-sized piece of sculpture takes at least two to three months and by that time is priced out of reach of most people. For that reason he tries to do a number of smaller pieces. He believes that general interest in sculpture in this country has increased greatly since the war. Today there are more average homes using three-dimensional pieces of art than ever in our history, Guastella says.

His idols are today—as they were when he was a boy—the great creators; Michaelangelo, Da Vinci, Rodin and Giotto. He thinks that Brancusi is the greatest living sculptor of today and that Gutzon Borglum was the first of the recent American artists in this peculiar field.

The secret of the sheen which is so characteristic of his own work, he laughs about and refuses to divulge. Mostly it's the application of layers upon layers of finish—and the real secret is hard work, Guastella laughs. Since he likes to work, the finish is easy and natural for him.

Kiwanis Sponsor Glee Club Concert

The Occidental College Glee Clubs are appearing at Sunset School Auditorium on February 9, sponsored by the Carmel Kiwanis Club. Before the concert at 8:00 o'clock, a dinner for the Glee Club and local graduates will be given in Sunset School cafeteria. Among local persons associated with Occidental College are former president Dr. Remsen D. Bird, graduates Robinson Jeffers and Mrs. Donnelly Fern, music teacher at Sunset School, and Dr. Calvin C. Flint, who attended the college for one year.

Both the Occidental Men's and Women's Glee Clubs are on the program singing a comprehensive selection of music, including old, new, humorous and patriotic songs.

PUBLIC INVITED TO HEAR CONSULS AT NAVY SCHOOL

Consuls-General of five European nations will be present on the platform of King Hall at the Navy Postgraduate School tomorrow evening when the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula presents its final program of the current study series, Toward a United Europe.

Rear Admiral C. Tod Singleton, (USN ret.), president of the local council, will serve as moderator of a panel discussion on the subject Can the Sovereign States of Western Europe Unite? Nations represented by their consuls-general from San Francisco will be Great Britain, France, Italy, the Federal Republic of Germany and the Netherlands. The meeting, to be held at 8:00 o'clock, following a dinner honoring the consuls, will be open to the public without charge. Written questions from the audience will be answered by the panel following the discussion.

Four Doctors To Aid Hospital Fund Drive

Four Peninsula doctors have been appointed to head up the medical gifts divisions in the current campaign for a $2,000,000 fund for a new Peninsula Community Hospital, it was announced this week.

Dr. Arnold Manor will serve as chairman of the medical gifts committee, with the following physicians and surgeons serving as co-chairmen:

John Gratiot, Walter B. Layton and Harry Lusignan.

The appointments were announced by Dr. Jesse Feiring Williams, who has accepted General Campaign Chairman S. F. B. Morse's invitation to serve as associate general chairman in charge of "Hospital Family" gift solicitation.

Earlier appointments announced by Mr. Morse included:

Dr. Mast Wolfson, Medical Advisor to the Executive Committee; Joseph B. Fratessa, Monterey contractor and immediate past-president of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce, to serve as executive vice chairman.

BOWMAN PUPIL RECITAL

The public is invited free of charge to the recital being given by four advanced voice pupils of Nancy Ness Bowman in the Parish Hall of All Saints' Episcopal Church on Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Singers are Joann Bowling, mezzo-soprano; Larry Glandon, tenor; Robert Estby, baritone; Ted Cross, bass-baritone. Accompanist is Kenneth Wilson, director of the Fort Ord Soldiers' Chorus.

Report Of Evaluating Committee Of Carmel High School Program

On May 7-8, 1957, Carmel High School completed its self-appraisal of the total high school program, for which it had used the Procedures for Appraising California High Schools, by inviting in the visiting committee composed of Mr. Paul Pinckney, Principal, Oakland High School; Mr. Rex Dunipace, Principal, Pacific Grove High School; Mr. Fred Laue, Secondary Coordinator, Monterey County Schools; Mr. M. Eugene Mushlitz, Consultant in Secondary Education, California State Department of Education; and Dr. Joe Smith, Professor of Education, San Francisco State College. This report is a compilation of the impressions of this committee and the findings of the local groups (administration, faculty, students, and classified staff) which were agreed upon at the final meeting with the committee on May 8.

Carmel High School has been a small high school, but is rapidly becoming a medium-sized one. Those concerned with the organization and administration of the school are to be congratulated for recognizing that this growth is in process and for requesting a review of their program at this time.

The mass of data collected for this study clearly demonstrates that Carmel High School is serving a student population which is unusual in the following ways: it does not include the usual percentages of students, who, after graduation, do not go to college; it does not include the usual percentages of students who leave school before graduation; it does not include the usual percentage of students who marry either during school or immediately after graduation and set about the business of raising a family and establishing a home. It seems clear, too, that the school is serving a community which has not a great deal of room for absorbing its graduates in gainful work, especially in unskilled areas. The school seems justified in providing the complete college and university entrance program which it does.

The administration, faculty, and the committee, however, have recognized that this program is somewhat out of focus. The figures would indicate that an increasing number of the graduates are enrolling in the Monterey Peninsula College. This is a trend which can be expected to accelerate within the next few years. It is also noted that there is, each year, a smaller percentage of the graduating class who enters into further training of any sort.

It is the recommendation of the committee that Carmel High School consider the focus of its program in several ways:

1. Through the establishment of a close, planning-type, liaison with the Monterey Peninsula College (The youth, after all, are being served in a fourteen-year program.)
2. Through a careful study of how courses are taught and how student groups operate at the high school. The committee suspects, after visiting with the student group, that more-than-enough content is being covered in the various courses, but that not enough attention is being given to relating that content to the daily lives and experiences of the students.
3. Through the careful development of the counselling system. It is our feeling that at present this service is tied too directly to disciplinary services in the school,

Army Colonel Edward B. Crossman, whose wife, Edith, lives in Carmel, recently was assigned as ordnance officer at I Corps headquarters in Korea. The 48-year-old colonel, who entered the Army in 1935, arrived overseas on this tour duty last December from an assignment at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. Among his awards, he holds the Legion of Merit. Colonel Crossman is a 1931 graduate of California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

and that a good deal of the available counselling time is spent on programming rather than on really finding out about the concerns of the student group.

The school is to be commended for the introduction of a counselling service. The committee believes that this service needs to be tied more tightly to the curriculum development. Historically, the counselling has been done by the principal and the vice-principal, as has been the testing. For the following three reasons it seems unwise to continue this procedure:

1. The counselling service is now established; it should be removed from the administration of discipline as soon as possible.
2. Counselling, as an organized ance on the municipal ballot in the April 8 election. The council has been informed by its attorney that it is not mandatory for them to put the question on the ballot, since "you are not required to put an illegal proposition before the voters" and he maintains a right to work law is not in city jurisdiction. Several council members have stated unofficially that they feel that a valid initiative should go on the ballot, regardless. There is a possibility that the council will officially oppose it in election.

artist, talked to commissioners for an hour yesterday at their invitation. Last week Howard Healey of Town House Lodge pointed out to the planning commission the prohibitive price of reproducing national motel association endorsement signs with the carved replicas suggested by commissioners. Mr. Frame said yesterday afternoon that a reasonable volume of such signs would reduce cost and offered to go to motel association officials and explore the possibility of carved wooden signs being provided for Carmel by the various associations, instead of the highly colored, reflective identifying signs used nationally.

Orchestra Of 50 For Verdi Requiem Here February 2

The orchestra which has been assembled to play for the presentation of Verdi's Requiem in the Sunset Auditorium in Carmel on Sunday afternoon comes from places as remote as Big Sur to the south, and San Jose to the north. Five players come from the latter place, one from the former. Salinas and Monterey each provide six; Pacific Grove and Carmel four apiece. Three come from Fort Ord, two from Seaside, one from Monterey Peninsula College, and one from Watsonville. Besides these, there are almost twenty more making the total strength of the orchestra close to half a hundred.

These instrumentalists, many of whom are members of the County Symphony, are contributing generously of their talents for this production and include, in the string section: Jerald Slavich (concertmaster), George Beck, Norma Del Chiaro, Elisabeth Du Val, John Erickson, Herman Medwin, H. M. M. Nicholas, Sheila Webster, Eiko Yoshizato, Dorothy Henderson, Joyce Thompson, Lorell McCann, Fred Shoup, Gerakline O'Connell, Marie Sale, Mary Dobel, James Carlisle, Richard McCann, Edwin Culver. Woodwinds: Les Rhinehart, Patti Clapper, Gilbert Boyer Jr., Phil Katz, Melvin Buffo, Katherine Rough, Don Rast, Joan Tyson, Robert Lee, Deril Siggard. Brasses: Leslie C. Neal, Brian Casiday, Jerry McCormack, Herbert Bell, Joseph Axup, Betty Axup, Don Phillip, William Kelsey, Jerome Janson, Weston Pringle, Alvin Geist, Warren Sheldon. Percussion: Joseph Mitchell, William Kelliher.

This orchestra will accompany the chorus of 75 voices and the four vocal soloists, under the direction of Gilbert Boyer of Carmel. Mr. Boyer, since coming to Carmel a few years ago, has won the esteem of the musicians and the community for his work as pianist, teacher, conductor, and musical leader. He organized the Monterey Peninsula Civic Chorus, with Angie Machado as co-director, presenting Handel's Messiah two years ago, and Brahms' German Requiem last year.

500 PHYSICIANS MEET HERE

Running concurrently at La Playa Hotel, the Golden Bough Theatre and the Circle Theatre are meetings of the Western Association of Physicians, the Western Society for Clinical Research, and the Western section of the American Federation for Clinical Research. Registration started yesterday morning and meetings continue through Friday. Five hundred physicians from the Western States are attending scheduled lectures and social events with 300 staying in Carmel.

B. F. Dixon

B. Franklin Dixon died on Sunday afternoon in a local hospital after a long illness. He was closely associated with community development of music and drama for 30 years, a former Boy Scout executive and world traveler.

Mr. Dixon (Dickie) was born in Indianapolis, Indiana, on March 15, 1887. He graduated from Purdue University with an electrical engineering degree, then studied design at the Chicago Art Institute and the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn. With this training Franklin Dixon went to New York and designed sets for Schubert Revues, Maude Adams' A Kiss For Cinderella, was assistant art director for David Belasco productions, and produced a cyclorama at the Hippodrome before becoming associated with Leon Bakst.

In 1914 he went to London for Bakst and designed sets and costumes for Scheherazade and Prince Igor for the Diaghilev Ballet Russe, starring Nijinsky.

He decided to enlist in the Royal Flying Corps in World War I and after receiving training, was sent to Canada for a year and a half to train other flyers, then became a member of the British 54th Squadron's flying circus assigned to cover the Western front.

In September 1918, Franklin Dixon was shot down and wounded by the brother of Baron Richthofen, member of the famous Richthofen flying circus. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by the British Government, presented by the Prince of Wales (Edward VII), and declared a flying ace as a result of his war service.

After the war Mr. Dixon spent 11 years in England as a stage designer and three years in Paris as a commissionaire d'exportier. During this time he underwent 38 operations as a result of his war injuries.

In 1920, on his 40th Atlantic crossing, he met Gladys Kingland, and seven years later they were married and came to Carmel to visit Mrs. Dixon's parents.

After a year in San Francisco Mr. and Mrs. Dixon moved to Carmel. Mr. Dixon immediately became associated with music and drama here and was Boy Scout Commissioner for this area. He

William Cannon

Dr. William Austin Cannon, nationally known botanist associated with the Carnegie Coastal Laboratory in Carmel for many years, died on January 17 in a Palo Alto rest home after a long illness.

Dr. Cannon was born in Washington, Michigan, on September 23, 1870. A graduate of the University of Michigan, he obtained his master's degree from Stanford University and a doctor of philosophy degree from Columbia University. He was assistant director of the New York Botanical Gardens before joining the botanical research department of the Carnegie Institute of Washington which maintained a research laboratory in Carmel. Dr. Cannon was acting director of the department from 1911-1912 and a research associate until 1926 when he joined the faculty of Stanford University.

He built a home in Carmel, on Rio Road, during the years he did was president of the Carmel Players, a staff member of the First Theater, president of the Carmel Music Society and president of the Monterey County Symphony Association. The orchestra advanced from its early stages towards its present status due to Mr. Dixon's, undiscouraged, untiring and unselfish zeal.

Since retiring from the presidency of the orchestra association four years ago, Mr. Dixon, with Mrs. Dixon, traveled extensively about the world bringing back to his Carmel friends interesting accounts of the people and countries he visited. He was a gracious host and both his winter home in Carmel, on San Antonio Street, and summer home in the Valley, were centers of hospitality in the community.

He leaves his wife, Gladys, a sister, Miss Gladys Dixon of Deerfield Beach, Florida; and two nephews, Charles Bush of Berkeley and Dixon Bush of Webster Groves, Missouri.

Private funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel with the Reverend George Ziegler, rector of the Episcopal Church in Lakewood, Washington, officiating. Inurnment followed in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

research at the Carnegie Laboratory here and was active in the early life of the town. Dr. Cannon also did special research for the Save the Redwoods League and was the author of botanical texts on the Sahara desert, the arid portions of Australia, the vegetation of South Africa, and the physiology of plant roots.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude, of Palo Alto; and two sons, Milner V. Cannon of Berkeley and George H. Cannon of Tucson, Arizona.

MOTHERS TO MARCH ON POLIO

Friday evening will find every porch light in Carmel lighted! At least, that is the hope of Mrs. Dexter Whitcomb and her battalion of volunteer workers for the Carmel Mothers' March on Polio. A burning porch light will call the woman worker to the door and show her she is welcome. A donation of any size will be appreciated by the collector and they hope that this year's total will be greater than any previous collection made for the Polio fund.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Some years ago a collection of books on arctic exploration was given to this library by Ernest de Koven Leffingwell of Carmel. When the library was remodeled the books became scattered in the catalog department. This year we gathered them together and sent them to the bindery where they were rebound in ice-blue buckram. There are many rare volumes in this collection and in their new blue bindings they make an impressive group. You may think of Mr. Leffingwell as a citizen of Carmel and a begonia fancier who has originated several new types of begonias. We think of him as a famous explorer who has honored this library by giving to it a part of his collection of books on explorations in the arctic. These books will be on display in the reading room. Please come in to see them.

We have two copies of Mona Williams' new book The Marriage. It will build up a waiting list rather fast so if you want to read it, don't delay in getting your name on the list. It has been reviewed in several local papers so all we need to say is that it deals with the break-up of a marriage and is told from the point of view of the wife. It is what we call a woman's book but men would surely enjoy it, too.

There are always to be considered the people who have difficulty sleeping and the fact that certain types of books can be chosen which will entertain but not alarm and thus drive sleep even farther away. We have two new ones, both edited by Lobsenz. One is entitled Her Bedside Companion, and the other is His Bedside Companion. The materials chosen for the two are decidedly slanted toward the interests of the him and hers for whom they are intended. There are well chosen bits from longer works, short stories, cartoons, snippets of all kinds, designed to interest the person who reads before going to sleep.

New fiction includes a novel by Robert Idell who wrote Centennial Summer and Bridge to Brooklyn. This one is about the same people and precedes the earlier two in time sequence. So if you missed the earlier ones, read this one first and then go back to pick up the others. This last one which is really the first one is called Rogers Folly.

Mark Harris of San Francisco has a new one entitled Something About a Soldier. You remember he wrote Bang the Drum Slowly and also Ticket for a Seamstress.

The Horizontal Hour is a story of a psychoanalyst. Through the medium of this doctor the author tries to show us the drives and impulses which motivate us all. Robert Marks is the author.

Dunbar's Cove was written by Borden Deal, and is the story of the Dunbar family of Tennessee. For generations the Cove had belonged to the Dunbar family and the present head of the family, Mathew, was determined to keep the property intact for his heirs.

The story describes the impact of change on the close-knit lives of the Dunbars and their neighbors.

It goes without saying that certain of these novels are for those who enjoy fiction as it is written frankly and some are for the more conventional reader. Choose with wisdom and enjoy the book you have chosen.

EMILY GRAVES' TOWN HOUSE SHOW

On Tuesday afternoon from 3:00 to 4:30 o'clock there will be a tea at The Carmel Foundation Town House to open the exhibit of paintings by Emily Melcher Graves. Friends of the artist and of The Foundation are invited. Mrs. Graves studied at the Chicago Art Institute for parts of several years, both before and after college. For some thirty years following her marriage there was little time for painting. In 1945 Mr. and Mrs. Graves came to live in Carmel when Mr. Graves retired from his position as librarian for more than two decades at Humboldt State College, Arcata, California. Mrs. Graves then resumed her study of art. She tried charcoal, pastels and later oils which she now likes best. She has studied with Kay Rogers, Frank Meyers and Dr. Marquez Reitzel. For the past year she has been a member of the painting class at The Carmel Foundation Town House under Miss Donna Davis, and the Adult School class in outdoor painting under Clarence Bates.

Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock the program at Carmel Foundation Town House will be a talk entitled Create in Clay by Bob Lynn who teaches pottery at the Carmel Adult School.

FREE CONCERT TONIGHT

Elizabeth Gary Du Val, Hungarian violinist, gives a recital tonight at the Monterey USO. Mrs. Du Val is one of our thoroughly experienced resident artists who should be heard. Graduated from the Royal Academy of Budapest, where she was a pupil of Emil Bare and Jenő Hubay, the instructors of Eugene Ormandy and Bartok, she has concertized all over Europe, America and Canada. Currently Mrs. Du Val is contributing her playing to the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra as first violin while her husband, Col. C. H. Du Val (USA ret.), teaches science at Monterey High. Her program contains works by Handel, Krieger, Lalo, Dvorak, Vieuxtemps, and Hubay with Camille Oleata, well-known accompanist of the Monterey Peninsula. The concert is free to the public.

AAUW RUMMAGE SALE

Dollars for Scholars will be the theme of the big rummage sale which the Monterey Peninsula Branch of the American Association of University Women will present on February 7 at the Monterey USO from 9:00 to 6:00 o'clock. Proceeds from the sale will be used for the fellowship program.

Such items as luggage, hats, jewelry and accessories, books, pictures, records and household wares will be sold, in addition to the always popular men's, women's and children's wear. A plant and bulb sale will be a feature, and sandwiches, homemade cake and coffee will be sold throughout the day for the convenience of workers and customers.

Among Carmel members taking part are Mrs. J. E. McEldowney, Mrs. Orville Rogers, Mrs. Hugh Smith and Mrs. George Purvis in the sorting department; Mrs. Ted Durein, pick-up service; and Mrs. Lewis Lenhart, co-chairman of the food department. Miss Florence Waller will head the books, and records department, assisted by Miss Lucy Mills, Miss Philippine Crecelius and Miss Claire Kennedy. Mrs. C. P. Vetter is in charge of men's wear, and the shoe department has co-chairmen, Mrs. Charles Dawson and Mrs. Lloyd Miller. Miss Maude Hook will be assisted by Mrs. C. A. Nedgeraen in arts and antiques, while Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray and Mrs. Ernst Gatcombe will be working in the household and garden departments. Mrs. Mark Raggett will aid in poster distribution.

never goes out of style

Fashions come and go, fads flourish then fade. What is modern and popular today will be obsolete and unwanted tomorrow. In nearly every phase of life, there is constant change, the eternal search for the new. Not so with water, however. The most valuable commodity in life, it never changes, is always right in style.

Water heads the popularity list in the world's way of life and therefore it is essential that it be Grade-A pure. Maintaining the highest water standards is a responsibility we have always accepted and will continue to fulfill to the very best of our ability.

Edna Corby

Miss Edna St. John Corby died on January 24. She had lived in Carmel, since 1949, with her sister, Mrs. William T. Prosser, on Monte Verde Street between Ninth and Tenth Avenues. She was born in Chicago, Illinois.

Private funeral services, conducted by the Reverend Angus Dun Jr., rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, were held on Tuesday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea in Pacific Grove.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The Poetry Column this week features poems by members of the Poetry Workshop at Sunset School, which is conducted by Olivia Young. This Adult Education Class explores the technique of verse writing, stresses imagery and the music of utterance, and urges student participation in the analysis of original poetry.

The class is held on Monday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, in room 4. All those interested in writing poetry are invited to attend.

THE WATCHMAKER

*The rhythm of recorded time
Hangs on the walls of his small room,
While in his supple hands he takes
Microscopic pieces of eternity,
Condensing and confining them
To measure out in little, rocking sounds
The hours of the days of men.
He sets the time of working and of sleep,
And all their going out and coming in;
Does he see his hands grown frail and old?
Does he know the power that they hold?*

—ALICE W. ASKEW.

LOST AT SEA

*Beneath the ships, beneath the stars, she sleeps;
Anemones and sea-plants cover her.
Remote and unaware, no sorrows stir
Her now. She lies in timeless, secret deeps
Lost to me
Utterly.*

—KELSEY BAYLES

AFTERNOON SILENCE

*The earth is sleeping, glass reflects the sea,
The wind has taken rout beyond the west,
Not one curved movement, neither crown nor crest
Disturbs the quiet of this eye-borne lea.*

*A small intruder toils in beauteous whirr,
A humming-bird deploys the jasmine,
A myriad flutterings become a rim
Of opalescent and transparent blurr.*

*As God descends on labor's fragile wings
With earth and sea in slumber, wind remote,
All motion ceases save this Ruby-throat
That here in contradiction's wonder hangs.*

Louise Married In Berlin

Louise Prince, and Julius W. Friend Jr. were married in the British Chapel in Berlin, in October, is the news received from Louise's mother, Mrs. Winifred (Wendy) Prince of Washington D. C., who recently returned from Europe where she attended the marriage.

After a honeymoon in France the young couple are living in Rome where Julius (Bill) is completing medieval history studies for a doctor of philosophy degree. On March 1 they plan to sail from Naples for the United States and will visit Bill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius W. Friend Sr. in New Orleans before settling in Washington, D.C.

Louise, who lived here as a child, is the daughter of David Prince of Watsonville, formerly of Carmel, and the granddaughter of the late Paul C. Prince who was associated with Frank Devendorf in the development of Carmel. Her great aunt is Mrs. Laura Maxwell of Carmel Valley.

Moore's In Italy

Former Carmelites Colonel and Mrs. Orin H. Moore write that they are now living in Naples but still own their lot in Carmel Woods as a "tie to Carmel."

Hawaii, Then New Grandson

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hofsas returned home a week ago today from a vacation in the Hawaiian Islands and on Tuesday left for Manhattan Beach. Mrs. Hofsas will fly back to Carmel on Saturday with reports of her new grandson whom she went south to meet for the first time. Mr. Hofsas is planning to stay in Southern California longer.

Valerie, Jack, Wed in New York

Valerie Furlong and Jack Starrett, who first met in the cast of a Circle Theatre play, were married in New York on January 15, in the Little Church Around the Corner. Both left Carmel early in the New Year to enter the Bergoff Drama School in New York. Jack is also studying at New York University.

Valerie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Adams of Carmel and Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Starrett of Refugio, Texas.

Garth Jeffers In Mendocino

Garth Jeffers, forest ranger son of Robinson Jeffers, is the new timber management assistant for Mendocino National Forest, handling the Howard Lake timber sale. He moved from Paskenta Ranger District and is living in Covelo with his wife and five children. Recently Garth, with his family, returned from flying the polar route to and from Germany where they spent three months visiting Mrs. Jeffers' parents.

Nan Peach Wed In Mission

Two hundred guests witnessed the marriage of Nan Peach of Carmel and Elmer Grain of Pacific Grove on January 18 in Carmel Mission. The ceremony was performed by the Right Reverend Monsignor Michael D. O'Connell at 11:00 o'clock in the morning. A reception followed at the home of the bride in Hatton Fields.

Both the bride and groom are civil service employees at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School and are making their home in Carmel after a Santa Barbara honeymoon.

Jeffers' Play Being Translated

Tower Beyond Tragedy is among the works of Carmel poet Robinson Jeffers at present being translated by Eva Hess of Munich, Germany. The play is to be produced in Munich, in the fall, as well as in several other German cities.

Judith Anderson played Clytemnestra in the Tower Beyond Tragedy when it was produced in Carmel at the Forest Theater in 1941.

Linda Has Virginia Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feek of Carmel have announced the marriage of their daughter Linda to Harold C. Hopkins, associate editor of The Broadcasting Magazine in Washington, D. C. The wedding took place in the chapel of the Unitarian Church in Arlington, Virginia, on New Year's Eve.

Linda was given in marriage by her mother's twin sister, Miss Frances Ferry, and the reception following the wedding was held in Miss Ferry's home in Washington. The couple are now living in Arlington.

Linda has been working for the National Association of Broadcasters in Washington. She is a Carmel High School graduate and continued her education at San Jose State College before traveling in Europe for a year with her sister Judy (Mrs. William Pilkenton).

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hopkins of Jackson and Mize, Mississippi, and a graduate of the University of Missouri school of journalism.

Jeanne To Study In Germany

Jeanne Fratessa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Fratessa, is leaving in June for Germany with 63 Stanford students chosen by a faculty committee to attend the first term on the university's branch campus, 12 miles from Stuttgart, on a 30-acre estate, called Landgut Burg, near the village of Beutelsbach.

Jeanne and her fellow students, 33 men and 30 women, will remain on the German branch campus throughout summer and fall quarters. A second group will attend January to June. The only cost above regular Stanford tuition is transportation home.

Faculty members in attendance during summer quarter will be F. W. Strothman, professor of German and executive head of the Germanic and Romance languages department, and Kurt Steiner, assistant professor of political science. Edward Farmer, professor of art will replace Dr. Steiner for the fall quarter.

John Petty Officer Trainee

John C. Farrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Farrell, graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego on January 17. He is now an apprentice petty officer third class, chosen from seaman recruit ranks to assist company commanders, on the basis of individual aptitude and leadership qualities.

Dick Ogden In Mock Battle

Marine Private Richard P. Ogden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murie Ogden, returned last Friday to Camp Pendleton after two weeks on an air-ground landing exercise during which an airfield on San Clemente Island was "seized" to accommodate aircraft and helicopter support.

Puerto Vallarta Flight

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vial and Mrs. F. Robert Smith, vanguard of Carmel visitors to Puerto Vallarta on the coast of Jalisco, Mexico, left Wednesday by plane with a folboat in their luggage. Next Wednesday the next group, including Bob Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Jon Konigshofer, fly to join them. During the month these Carmelites plan to sun, explore and fish in tropical surroundings they will add Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Richard Mack and John Geisen to their numbers.

While their parents are away, Robin, Debbie and Penny Smith and Susie Vial will remain here with Mrs. Frank E. Farrell in the Smith home. The Vial's house will be occupied during their absence by friends, starting this week end with a group of physicians with Mrs. Vial's brother, Dr. James Hopper, here to attend medical meetings, and ending with Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis and her two sons.

Well Baby Clinic

Carmel area mothers with preschool children not under regular medical care are invited to attend the Carmel Well-Baby conference (clinic) at the Church of the Wayfarer on Thursday morning at 9:00 o'clock. The Carmel area includes Carmel Valley, Highlands, and Big Sur as well as Carmel and its unincorporated sections.

The conference is held regularly the first Thursday of each month. It is conducted by a pediatrician who gives individual counseling to each mother and baby. Public health nurses are also in attendance, and volunteers from the Carmel PTA provide baby-sitting. Appointments can be made by telephoning the Monterey County Health Department office, FRontier 2-4583.

Carol Boyd New Mrs. Hallett

Carol Abby Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Boyd of Carmel Highlands, and James Tilford Hallett, son of Mrs. Alta Hallett of Carmel and Mr. James Hallett of Salinas, were married on Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at All Saints' Episcopal Church, the Reverend Angus Dun Jr. officiating. Carol's sister, Charlotte, was maid of honor and her bridesmaids were Priscilla Clark of Carmel, Shirley Walters of Portland, and Gail Soderman of Astoria. Jim's best man was Toby Sampson of Carmel and his ushers were Gary Nielsen of Carmel and Hisham Nuseibeh of San Francisco.

Carol was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory satin and lace princess style gown with chapel train and a head dress of satin and net and carried a family prayer book covered with small white roses with ribbon streamers. The bridal attendants wore dresses of soft pink dull satin with matching head dress, and carried white fur muffs covered with sprays of pink roses.

A reception at the home of Carol's parents, in the Highlands, was given for members of both families and the bridal party. Carol and Jim are graduates of the class of 1955 at Carmel High and are now Junior year students at San Francisco State College. While in high school Carol was song leader, president of Junior Statesman, and was chosen to represent Carmel High at Girl's State in Sacramento in 1955. She completed two years at the University of Oregon where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Jim was an outstanding student in biology and after two years at San Jose is now working towards a degree in biology at San Francisco State College. He has been employed by the State Park System at Big Sur and Point Lobos State Parks during his summer months.

After a short honeymoon in Santa Barbara the young couple will make their home in San Francisco until Jim completes his college studies.

Puppets For Perla's Party

Perla Armanasco celebrated her fourth birthday last Friday with her schoolmates at Blue Jay School. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Armanasco, brought a candle cake to the school party and guests were entertained by a puppet show given by David Nixon. Enjoying the occasion with Perla were Jimmy Green, Sandy Spaulding, Ann Campbell, William Hall, Mark Chipiavi, Eleanor Bennett, Barbara Lane, Kathy Johnson, John Bradley, John Zellhoefer, Kristin Adams and Perla's teacher, Mrs. Jay Tuthill.

Seniors To Cover Town

Suzann Pilot, editor of El Padre, Carmel High School yearbook, announces that between now and next Thursday members of the senior class will solicit sponsorships throughout Carmel to finance their annual. This year the El Padre staff is not selling advertisements but asking for sponsor donations, with the sponsors' names printed in the book. Senior class students are helping the editorial staff collect $650 before next Thursday's deadline.

This will most likely be the last year; town support will be needed to help finance El Padre, Suzann reports, as with the enlarged district an appropriation will most likely be made to finance the year book. Suzann also points out that this year the El Padre staff has an earlier deadline to meet and must raise publishing funds within the coming week. Costs have risen this year, too, she adds.

Musical At Carmadon

Mrs. Grace Howden was hostess to 20 persons at her home Sunday when, after tea, poured by Mrs. F. W. Titus, paintings by Spanish artist Pio Junco, were exhibited to the guests. Modern piano duets were played by Nadene Stengel and Dorothy Heer from Salinas. Mrs. Douglas Graham, in a Japanese ceremonial gown belonging to Mrs. Howden, sang two operatic arias accompanied by Mrs. Marjorie Freston. Their rendering of the one from Madame Butterfly was particularly suited to Mrs. Graham's type of soprano. David Schoenbro's fine baritone was heard in three songs. He was accompanied by his teacher, Mary Lindsay Oliver. His concluding number was a rendering of the Schubert Erlking in German.—J.P.

Mike Raggett Annapolis Nominee

Congressman Charles M. Teague announced this week that, as a result of competitive examinations taken on November 18, Michael Raggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett, has a "principal nomination" to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis pending results of college board examinations and physical tests which Mike must take this spring.

A senior at Carmel High School, 17-year-old Michael has an A grade average, is in the top ten of his class scholastically, a member of the California Scholarship Federation, president of the Lettermen's Club, a member of this year's championship football team, and a track athlete.

Reed Putnam Enlists

On February 12, Reed Putnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Putnam, will report as an enlistee in the Army Signal Corps Security Agency program. Before becoming a member of this branch of the Army, Reed must pass a security clearance examination. Attendance at the Army Language School is an integral part of the training.

Radio was one of Reed's special interests during the years he attended Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College, and he expects to use this knowledge in the Army. He is at present employed with Bayard Radio.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR 40 NEW CAMPS AT SUR

On January 21, bids were awarded for campground development at Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park to the Merle C. Baldwin Company of Watsonville, California.

The development will be in a recently acquired area adjacent to the Park's established south campground, and will consist of construction of forty camp units; a combination building; a comfort station; water lines; and electric lines, at an overall cost of $33,969.77.

Construction will begin as soon as contract documents are approved by the State Department of Finance.

Sunday Wedding For Carol

The Church of the Wayfarer was decorated with white chrysanthemums on Sunday afternoon when Carol Louise Timbers was married to Demarest Pope at 3:00 o'clock by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray. John Farr sang The Wedding Hymn immediately before the ceremony and The Lord's Prayer during the service.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Howard E. Timbers of Carmel. The Chantilly lace fitted bodice of her gown, fashioned with an illusion neckline and long pointed sleeves, was fastened in back with tiny satin buttons to the hipline from which fell the full skirt, of layers of white net over satin, extending into a chapel train in back. Her matching Chantilly lace veil fell from a pearl trimmed Juliet cap and she carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds and bouvardia.

Mrs. H. Dick Sumner was her sister's matron of honor wearing a light blue silk overlaid with champagne lace dress made with a fitted bodice, the bouffant skirt fuller and longer in back, and the waistline marked by a blue cummerbund. The band of pale pink carnations in her hair matched her cascade bouquet of the same flowers.

Debra Winegarden, cousin of the bride was flower girl in a light blue organdy frock embroidered in front with pink rosebuds. She carried a basket of pale pink carnations and wore a headband of the same flowers. H. Dick Sumner, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man for the groom and ushers were Winston J. Winegarden, cousin of the bride, and Don R. Schoenmann of San Mateo.

Mrs. Timbers attended her daughter's wedding in a light blue jeweled knit dress, white hat and accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Pope of Rutherford, New Jersey, the groom's parents, were unable to come West at this time.

The reception—following the wedding was held in the Garden Room of the Church of the Wayfarer. Tall yellow tapers lighted the refreshment tables on which were placed bowls of white stock and daffodils. A decoration of bells and bouvardia topped the wedding cake surrounded with gardenias.

After a honeymoon in Southern California, the young couple will live in Menlo Park. The bride is a graduate of Carmel High School and studied at San Jose State College before becoming a United Airlines stewardess.

The groom is employed by Plex Chemical Company in the Bay Area. He attended Rutgers University after spending three years in the Air Corps.

Rainers Have Second Son

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic E. (Buzz) Rainer have a second son, Richard Scott, born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on January 16. Richard's brother is four-year-old Teddy. His father teaches English at Carmel High School and coaches the varsity track and junior varsity football teams as well as sponsoring The Padre, Carmel High School newspaper.

Richard weighed eight pounds, two ounces at birth. His grandparents are Mrs. Elizabeth Rainer of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. Ben A. McBurney of Claremont.

Woman's Club Talk And Tea

America's Place in World Affairs will be the topic of the talk to be given by Dr. Alonzo Baker at the general meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday afternoon. He has specialized in the study of Marxist communism and knows the operation of communism in Russia, Red China and their satellites, and for years taught Russian history and politics. He is now Professor of Political Science at the College of the Pacific in Stockton.

After the lecture members and their guests will enjoy a tea hour. Those who will pour are Mrs. C. Tod Singleton and Mrs. James T. Rye. Miss Margaret Bott, Mrs. R. H. Kercher, Mrs. E. J. Schmitt and Mrs. Wallace H. Lowry will assist the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Samuel B. Moore, in serving the refreshments. Mrs. William Eklund will arrange the flowers for the tea tables.

Karl Schnabel To Be Symphony Orchestra Soloist

Pianist Karl Ulrich Schnabel will be heard on the Peninsula for the second time on February 10 when he appears as soloist with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra in Beethoven's First Piano Concerto and Polonaise Brillante by Chopin, in Sunset Auditorium at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. Schnabel has played with leading orchestras in Britain, Argentina, Austria, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Poland, Russia, Switzerland and Uruguay besides the United States. He has also played on radio and made recordings of music by Bach, Mozart, Schubert, Chopin, Mendelssohn, Weber, Liszt and Debussy.

As a teacher, Karl Ulrich Schnabel developed his own methods of technique and practicing and has given master classes in New York, England and Brazil, as well as annually at Lake Como in Italy.

He is also a composer, a transcriber and has written a book on new pedal technique. During the second World War, Mr. Schnabel was head of an electronics laboratory in a Massachusetts factory and served as technical consultant to the Armed Forces. A native of Austria, he became an American citizen in 1944.

Sierra Club Asks Co-Operation For Bill Board Control

(From Loma Prieta, publication of San Jose Chapter of the Sierra Club).

Two out of three Americans, a Trendes poll reveals, definitely oppose rural outdoor advertising. The Union Oil Company, serving nine western states, cancels all use of billboards—the result, a twenty percent increase of patronage. Yet the billboard industry still speaks with more authority in congress than we, the people, because you have not been heard from.

Senator Kuchel in the Public Works Committee cast a deciding vote for a narrow 706 defeat of the Neuberger bill (S 963) which would regulate outdoor advertising along the recently enacted $50 billion, 41,000 mile Interstate Highway System.

A late report — our senator begins to realize that the public wants something done about the billboard problem. He needs your encouragement.

S 963 will be revived again in January. If for aesthetic reasons you resent the roadside wall of signs that block the American landscape, let Senator Thomas Kuchel (Senate Office Building, Washington, 25 D. C.) and Senator Richard Neuberger know now that you support strong billboard controls along the new Interstate Highway System.

ORDINANCE NO. 244 N.S.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FLEXIBILITY OF REQUIREMENT OF SERVICE IN STEP IN CASES OF UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1: That in any case where, by reason of unusual circumstances, rigid adherence to the requirements of Section 66.02, Division 4, Part II, of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, insofar as the number of months required to be served in each step is concerned, would cause a manifest injustice, the City Council may by resolution make such order relating thereto as in its discretion seems proper.

Section 2: EXPIRATION DATE. The provisions of this ordinance shall expire and be of no further force and effect thirty (30) days after its final adoption.

Section 3: EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an urgency ordinance, a statement of such urgency being as follows:

That without the flexibility provided by the within ordinance, the city is in danger of losing efficient personnel, that such danger is immediate, and that therefore the passage of this ordinance is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, peace and safety, that in the premises this ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its final passage and adoption.

CERTIFICATE OF CITY CLERK
I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 214 N.S. which was given its First Reading at an Adjourned Meeting of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, held on the 15th day of January, 1958, and finally adopted at an Adjourned Meeting of the said Council on the 21st day of January, 1958.

I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED THIS 23rd day of January, 1958.

L. D. ROSE, City Clerk.
Date of Publication: Jan. 30, 1958.

Evaluating Report Of Carmel High School Program

service, is time-consuming when properly done. It does not seem to be a wise use of administrative time in a growing school.

3. Counseling data ought to be channelled immediately into the curriculum development processes. This means that it should be tied, not to the administration, but to the instructional staff and its organization.

To do this, incidentally, would clarify the administrative role in the school. At present, the administrators seem to be overloaded with details relating to students and their instructional needs. A better use of these administrators would be to have them in the position of being concerned with communication among faculty groups and between on-campus and off-campus groups, and with facilitating the exercise of policy in the instructional and extra-curricular program.

It is the opinion of the committee that the faculty of Carmel High School is an unusually good one. There is a high degree of knowledge, skill, and experience among its members. This excellent staff needs to be placed in a more responsible role, vis-a-vis curriculum development and instructional policy. While it is true that they currently operate in an atmosphere that is free of restraint, it is also true that very few opportunities for positive, responsible commitment are available to the faculty. The committee had two suggestions to make:

1. That the Guidance Committee be revived, and that it have a good deal of life breathed into it. This could be done by making it genuinely responsible to the faculty as a whole for the development and continual evolution of the counselling system, including testing.

2. That an Instructional Affairs Committee be established and that it be made responsible to the faculty for the program of curriculum development, including in-service training. This committee could also be responsible for upward and downward articulation.

For the faculty to accept these roles would not only place them in a responsible position, it would lift the tone of the administrative operation considerably. With the faculty performing responsibly, the administrator is freed to play his role as communicator and facilitator by serving as consultant to the committees, and by serving as a reviewer before the faculty as a whole is called upon to take action at a general meeting. The faculty in turn is placed, not in the position of having to agree or disagree, but in the position of having to make responsible suggestions along with plans for executing them.

The committee was impressed with the calibre of student who rises to a position of leadership at Carmel High School. Those with whom the committee talked were poised and articulate. They were creative in their out-loud thinking. But, the committee was distressed that they were not imbued with a high sense of responsibility for their own affairs, nor were they skillful as a group. Therefore, the Committee should like to suggest the following:

1. That when an instructional affairs committee is formed, it very clearly consider ways and means for building real responsibility into the classroom situation.

2. That a survey of the student population be made in order to determine, anonymously and through open-ended responses, with what problems the student group would really like to work. Then, no matter how unimportant it seems to the faculty group, turn the student council loose to work to a finish on that problem, or those problems.

The committee said that it would be derelict if it did not mention the high degree of efficiency and the obviously good morale present in the classified staff. The committee observed that more custodial and gardening help was needed, and understood that it was forthcoming. The committee was impressed with what is accomplished by so small a staff. At the same time, it seemed clear that more help to provide constant maintenance is necessary if the really delightful setting for the school and the attractive buildings are not to deteriorate long before they should.

In conclusion, the committee would like to emphasize that at Carmel High School there are present all the pieces for a superior program. In large measure these pieces have been well put together. What is chiefly needed is organization against the day when the school will be roughly twice its present size. This organization should be designed to place the administration in the role of communicator-facilitator to the faculty, to place the faculty in a position to commit itself responsibly to policy and practice, and to place the students in a more responsible position insofar as their own affairs are concerned.

The committee enjoyed visiting Carmel High School, and said they were received enthusiastically and graciously. As a committee it felt that the school was presenting a good program, and was presenting it well. The committee wished to commend the school staff and the local citizenry for recognizing that change is upon them, and for taking the first practical step toward understanding the change, and for getting into a position for controlling it.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Divine Love's inexhaustible power and abundance will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science services.

Matthew's account (ch. 8) of the healing by Christ Jesus of the centurion's servant will be included in the Bible passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (49:10): "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

The Golden Text is from I John (4:7): "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God."

Here's The Run Down On Bond Committee

Association and a past president of the Carmel Real Estate Board and the Carmel Business Association. He serves as a director of the Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross and is a member of the Carmel Rotary Club and Carmel American Legion Post 512.

J. O. Handley, immediate past president of the Carmel Unified School District board, now lives in the home which he built on La Loma Terrace, but he came to Carmel over 25 years ago. He owns and operates Carmel Builders Supply. He is a past president of the Carmel Business Association and was a member of the board of directors of the Peninsula Community Hospital and on the Youth Center adult board. He was on the citizens advisory committee to the school board recommending the formation of a peninsula wide junior college this past year. Both his sons received their education in Carmel's schools.

Attorney Eugene Harrah came to Carmel in 1946. He lives in Carmel Hills and has had children in the Carmel schools since 1949. He is president of the Church of the Wayfarer League (three years), chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Girl Scout Council's camp development committee (four years), member of the Monterey County Symphony Association board (two years). In the 1956 Carmel school bond election Mr. Harrah was chairman of the steering committee. He is an honorary life member of the Carmel PTA, a charter member of Carmel Kiwanis Club, 32nd degree Mason belonging to Carmel Masonic Lodge and San Jose Scottish Rite consistory. In 1947 Eugene Harrah was one of the founders of the Carmel Boys' Club, (absorbed by the Carmel Youth Center), later served on the board. He was on the citizens advisory committee to the school board in the recent Peninsula wide junior college district study, is a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West and served on Woods School's traffic committee.

Mrs. Adrian Bennett lives in the Mission Tract and her three children have been in Carmel schools since 1952. She was vice president of the League of Women Voters last year and holds the same position this year. She has also been a PTA room mother and is presently on the American Red Cross Fund Drive residential area committee.

George Herbert, retired manufacturer from Hillsborough, has lived in Carmel School district in the Valley for the past three years. He assisted the Valley committee which worked for unification of Tulare and Carmel school districts to Carmel district.

Peter Ferrante is an attorney who has lived in Carmel since 1931. His home is in Hatton Fields. He served on the Carmel school board for ten years and has been on the executive boards of both the Carmel Music Society and the Monterey County Symphony Association. He has given time to the Monterey County Heart Association, the Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross, the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest and recently incorporated the Bach Festival. Mr. Ferrante also incorporated the Bing Crosby Fund, which administers funds for charity raised by the annual Crosby golf tournament. His two daughters attended Carmel schools.

and the Big Sur Advisory Committee have approved the project. Planning Commissioner Keith Evans says there is need for a trailer camp down the coast and that the proposed location doesn't cut off ocean view because the ocean is hidden behind a hill at that point.

There is need for a Down Coast Protective Association of Peninsula citizens who are willing to work now to save this beautiful coast road. A few months from now will be too late. There is too much talk of how, when Hearst Castle State Park opens, the coast road will have to be widened and more restaurants and motels needed along the way. Why? There are places for tourists to sleep and eat on the Monterey Peninsula, at the concentration of motels, camps and eating places near Big Sur, or at San Simeon, if they prefer. There is room to spare for commercial development there, and no doubt the natives would welcome it.

Gamboa Associates' trailer camp and motel may not be damaging to the view near Gamboa Point but indirectly it would damage the view from the Highlands to San Simeon. Granting rezoning at Gamboa Point would start a gold rush of camp and motel operators, and how could the county planning commission say yes to one, no to another, and make it stick in court? —Wilma Cook.

Norman Gonzales

Norman Gonzales, educational specialist at Fort Ord, died on Monday in a local hospital following a heart attack.

Mr. Gonzales was born on April 13, 1904, in Tracy, the only child of Joseph and Emma Gonzales. He received his bachelor of arts degree from College of the Pacific in Stockton and his master's degree from Oregon State College.

An educator, Mr. Gonzales came here during World War II as field director for the American Red Cross at Fort Ord. His home was at Dolores and Alta Streets.

He was a member of Carmel Lodge 680, F. & A. M. and during his student days was affiliated with Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity.

He leaves his wife, the former Nadine Tupper, whom he married in 1930.

Funeral services, conducted by Carmel Masonic Lodge, No. 680, with the Reverend Harris Pillsbury officiating, were held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Paul Mortuary Funeral Chapel. Burial was in El Carmelo Cemetery.

WILDFLOWER FESTIVAL SET FOR APRIL 19

The Fourth Annual Wildflower Festival will be held at the auditorium in Carmel Valley on April 19. This annual festival is expected to draw between 8,000 and 10,000 persons this year from the Western states and is the only exhibition of its kind in the United States.

Publicity is being handled by the Special Events Committee of the Monterey Peninsula Convention Bureau on a nation wide basis.

since 1928. He says that he is going back into the drug business because he has a son and nephew preparing to be pharmacists. "In five years they can take over."

His son, Jim 19 years old, attends Monterey College now and plans to complete his training at College of the Pacific. When Harvey V. Kilpatrick, the nephew, graduates from Sacramento High School this spring, he will come to live with Mr. and Mrs. Womble, and join Jim at Monterey College next fall. He, too, plans to study pharmacy at College of the Pacific.

Mr. Womble and his wife Inez were born and reared in Sacramento, married there, and made it their home until they came to the Monterey Peninsula. He has been called upon to help out in peninsula drug stores, at Fortier's in Carmel, and lately at Mitchell's Drug Store in Seaside. He is a member of the Beach Club and the Yacht Club — son Jim sails a mercury class sail boat — and vice president of the Kiwanis Club of Seaside. Mrs. Womble is past state president of the Pharmaceutical Auxiliary.

Mr. Womble plans alterations for inside and outside the store, "in harmony with Carmel."

The Castagnas owned a drug store in Fenton for twelve years before returning to Carmel to take over Staniford's Drug Store in 1953. They have not decided yet what they will do after the sale.

Ups And Downs Of The School Board

Mr. Edwards' alarming chart. Present enrollment is 452.

James Dixon, River School custodian, has resigned to take advantage of "a better opportunity." Sears-Roebuck, low bidder of three, got the fencing job of the new play area at Sunset, $1296. The board assured an uneasy member of the audience that there would be landscaping after the fence was in place.

Alan Aldwell, high school history teacher, was granted sabbatical leave. He will travel in Europe, attend fall semester at Oxford, and take further graduate work at University of California at Los Angeles in the spring.
